1. INTRODUCTION

The University of California, San Francisco (UCSF) is one of the ten campuses of the University of California and the only one devoted solely to the health sciences.

Its mission is fourfold: patient care, education, health sciences research and public service.

To fulfill its mission, UCSF conducts multi-disciplinary instruction, research, and patient-care programs through its Schools of Dentistry, Medicine, Nursing, and Pharmacy; a Graduate Division in the basic biological, social, and behavioral sciences; three hospitals (Herbert C. Moffitt Hospital, Joseph M. Long Hospital and Mt. Zion Medical Center); a psychiatric patient-care, research, and teaching institute (Langley Porter Psychiatric Institute), and one of the largest ambulatory care programs located in California. Major affiliated programs are located at San Francisco General Hospital Medical Center and the San Francisco Veterans Administration Medical Center. There are some 600 other affiliated and associated UCSF programs throughout the state.

1.1. Purpose and Scope of UCSF's Affirmative Action Plan

UCSF's Affirmative Action Plan serves as a working document to ensure that all persons are afforded equal access to UCSF's employment opportunities, and represents the campus's framework for the implementation of an affirmative approach designed to insure diversity in the University's workforce in a manner that reflects the diversity in the labor force and the community. Where appropriate, employment goals have been identified to increase the representation of Blacks, Asians/Pacific Islanders, Hispanics, American Indians/ Alaskan Natives, and women in those segments of the workforce where they are underutilized. This plan is embraced by the University's Strategic Plan (see 8.1).

The Plan describes the hierarchy of responsibility for affirmative action at UCSF, the mechanisms that exist for full campus participation in UCSF's affirmative action programs and activities, relevant personnel policies and procedures, mechanisms for monitoring, reporting, and evaluating affirmative actions progress, and special programs developed to increase the presence and retention of groups historically underutilized in UCSF's workforce.

UCSF is subject to and must address a variety of Federal laws, regulations, and guidelines regarding equal employment opportunity and affirmative action. The technical, legal, and statistical aspects of this Plan, however, all have a common purpose--to allow us to identify properly three key concepts:

- i. where we stand now,
- ii. where we must go, and
- iii. how best to get there.

This Affirmative Action Plan has been adopted in conformance with Executive Order 11246, as amended, and its implementing regulations. The Plan is designed to cover the reporting period January 1, 2007 through December 31, 2007.

1.2. History

In 1868 the California Legislature founded the University of California under the provisions of the Morrill Land Grant College Act of 1862. From its inception in 1864 when Dr. Hugh H. Toland started his medical college in San Francisco to the present, UCSF has grown from a small medical college to one of the nation's major health science centers. In 1873, a major goal of the university was accomplished when both Toland Medical College and the year-old California College of Pharmacy agreed to affiliate with the University, thus establishing a health sciences campus in San Francisco, the second oldest campus in the University of California system (after Berkeley). Schools of Dentistry and Nursing were added in 1881 and 1907, respectively.

When the 1906 earthquake and fire devastated San Francisco, Golden Gate Park became a refuge for the homeless and injured, prompting the Affiliated Colleges to turn part of the School of Medicine building into a makeshift hospital. Patient care has been a significant part of the campus ever since.

After World War II, the basic health science departments, which had been transferred to Berkeley in 1906, were returned to San Francisco. This consolidation permitted full integration of the basic sciences into a program of biomedical research and its application to academic and professional instruction. For more than a century UCSF has educated dentists, nurses, pharmacists, physicians, and allied health professionals for service throughout California, the nation, and the world.

In the 1960's and 1970's, the campus responded to the need to increase the number of professional students in almost every health science category. New graduate programs were approved, research trainee programs multiplied, and training in allied health professions expanded to meet expressed public demand for these services. In recognition of its achievements, in 1970 the campus was named the University of California, San Francisco and became the only health sciences campus in the nine-campus UC system, and one of the largest and most modern health sciences teaching facilities on the West Coast.

Today, UCSF's reputation is hard to match: peers rank the School of Medicine as one of the top ten in the country, and the Schools of Nursing and Pharmacy as number one in their respective fields. The School of Dentistry is recognized nationally for its high quality clinical training and top-ranked continuing education program. UCSF graduate programs in the basic and behavioral sciences attract students from around the world.

There are many doctors, nurses, technicians, researchers and support staff who have promoted, enabled, or accomplished good and often great deeds of services for the UCSF and larger communities. UCSF's employees have received many honors and awards not the least of which was the bestowal of the Nobel Prize in Medicine, December 10, 1989, shared by Doctors Michael Bishop and Harold Varmus, both of UCSF's Department of Microbiology and Immunology. In October 1997, Stanley Prusiner was awarded the Nobel Prize in medicine.

1.3. Physical Layout

In 1895 the state allotted money for a building to house the Affiliated Colleges, as they were called, on Parnassus Heights, and 13 acres of land were donated by Adolph Sutro. Growth of the UCSF physical plant on the Parnassus Heights site (University of California Hospital, Langley Porter Psychiatric Institute, the Clinics Building, Guy S. Millberry Union, Health Sciences East and West, School of Nursing, Ambulatory Care Center, School of Dentistry, Joseph M. Long Hospital, and Herbert C. Moffitt Hospital) occurred slowly with the burgeoning of UCSF's programs and activities.

Today, the Parnassus campus approaches four million square feet of instructional, research, patient care, and support facilities. A mandated ceiling on the size of the Parnassus campus has led UCSF to acquire sites through decentralization and formal affiliations. Notably, UCSF currently has significant operations disbursed throughout San Francisco and the greater Bay Area, including clinical and research facilities as well as administrative functions. Today more than one-third of the campus' faculty and staff spend their working hours far from the 106-acre main campus at Parnassus Heights.

1.4. Statistical Profile

UCSF is now a one-billion dollar biomedical and research institution. Its funds come from a variety of sources: the Federal government contributes 20%; private sources, 12%; local governments, 4%; tuition & fees, 1%; auxiliary enterprises, 1%; sales & service of educational activities, 4%; sales & service of teaching hospitals, 48%; State of California, 9%; and other sources, 2%.

As of Fall 2006, UCSF enrolled 2967 students in its undergraduate professional, graduate academic and professional, and postgraduate programs. Of these students, 64% were women and 44% were minorities.

In June 2006, there were 15,249 career employees. Of these, 64% were women and 49% were minorities.

As the major referral center for specialized patient care in Northern California, a magnet for students, scholars, and researchers from all over the world, the second largest employer in San Francisco, and an important source of education and jobs for women and under represented minorities, UCSF has a direct or indirect impact on the health and well-being of every person who lives in the state.

1.5. University Governance

The University of California is governed by The Board of Regents, through the corporate chief executive officer, the President. Most of the daily operations are decentralized to the campus level, however, and each campus has a Chancellor serving as executive officer. Directly reporting to the Chancellor of the San Francisco campus are: the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost, who oversees all research matters and who is the chief academic officer for the campus; the Vice Chancellor for Administration & Finance, who oversees all non-academic operational activities; the Vice Chancellor University Advancement and Planning, who coordinates all campus-wide activities related to growth and development of the university; the Director of the Institute for Biomedical Research; each of the Deans of the four academic Schools (Dentistry, Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy). The Dean of the Graduate Division reports to the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost.

In addition to the direct administrative reporting outlined above, two groups on campus play an integral role in its activities and have direct access to the Chancellor. First, the core groups of faculty within the University are members of the Academic Senate, an independently governed group that sets and maintains academic standards. Second, the professional Medical Staff of the Medical Center is an independent group that maintains medical standards and practices for patient care.

1.6. History of Affirmative Action at UCSF

The University of California, San Francisco has historically pursued a policy of nondiscrimination in all of its operations. Experience has proven that this policy, while essential, is not alone sufficient to assure that all individuals will have an equal opportunity to participate in UCSF's programs and activities. Experience has demonstrated the effectiveness of affirmative action efforts by the campus to extend opportunities to groups which have been disadvantaged in the past. Progress has been made in increasing minority and female representation in many segments of the campus workforce, such that as of June 2006 minorities (Blacks, Asians/Pacific Islanders, Hispanics, and American Indians/Alaskan Natives) comprised 49% of the total campus workforce and women comprised 64%.

In July 1996, The Regents approved a resolution (SP-2) which mandated that UC not use race, religion, sex, color, ethnicity, or national origin as criteria in its employment and contracting practices. A condition of the resolution, however, states, "Nothing in Section 1 shall prohibit any action which is strictly necessary to establish or maintain eligibility for any federal or state program, where ineligibility would result in a loss of federal or state funds to the University."

Due to The Regent's Resolution SP-2, which became effective January 1, 1996, UCSF has made technical revisions to its policies on nondiscrimination and affirmative action. However, SP-2 was rescinded by the Regents on May 16, 2001. In order to ensure compliance with the state and federal regulations, the University has revised or strengthened its employment policies, programs and practices. Under Executive Order 11246, federal contractors are required to prohibit discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin, and to promote equal opportunity through affirmative action. As a federal contractor, the University continues to develop and implement affirmative action programs for women and under-represented minority groups, people with disabilities, Vietnam-era veterans, special disabled veterans, recently separated veterans, and any other veterans who served on active duty during a war or in a campaign or expedition for which a campaign badge has been authorized.

In November 1996, the citizens of California voted for the passage of Proposition 209, the "California Civil Rights Initiative." This proposition, which contained similar language to the Regents' resolution applies to all city, county, and state public agencies, including the University of California. Now in effect, as Section 31 of Article I of the California Constitution, the law applies to the university to the extent that it does not jeopardize federal funding. Modifications have been made to the Affirmative Action Plan and to the applicable programs to comply with both State and Federal regulations.

2. STATEMENT OF POLICY

UCSF reaffirms its commitment to nondiscrimination and affirmative action in employment. It is the policy of the University of California, San Francisco to provide equal employment opportunities to all individuals without regard to race, color, religion, marital status, national origin, ancestry, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, physical or mental disability, medical condition (cancer-related or genetic characteristics), pregnancy, status as a Vietnam-era veteran or special disabled veteran, veterans recently separated from active duty, or any other veterans who served on active duty during a war or in a campaign or expedition for which a campaign badge has been authorized, within the limits imposed by law or University regulations, because of age (over 40) or citizenship.

UCSF employees or applicants for employment shall be treated equitably and fairly in all matters related to employment, including recruitment, appointment, transfer, promotion, reclassification, separation, compensation, benefits, training and education, and social and recreational programs. No employee or applicant for employment shall be discriminated against, harassed, or differentially treated on the basis of race, color, religion, marital status, national origin, ancestry, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, physical or mental disability, medical condition (cancer-related or genetic characteristics), pregnancy, status as a Vietnam-era veteran, special disabled veteran, or veterans recently separated from active duty, or any other veterans who served on active duty during a war or in a campaign or expedition for which a campaign badge has been authorized, within the limits imposed by law or University regulations, because of age (over 40) or citizenship.

In conformance with applicable laws and regulations it is the policy of UCSF to undertake affirmative action for underutilized minorities, women, persons with disabilities, special disabled veterans, Vietnam-era veterans, recently separated veterans, and any other veterans who served on active duty during a war or in a campaign or expedition for which a campaign badge has been authorized, to insure that members of groups who in the past may have been victims of employment discrimination are given equal opportunities to compete for jobs and to have their qualifications assessed fairly.

This policy is not new to UCSF, but its restatement coincides with the announcement of revised methods which have been adopted for its effective implementation. These methods and procedures are set forth in UCSF's Affirmative Action Plan which addresses our commitment to increase the numbers of minorities and women in those areas where underutilization currently exists, and also identifies positive steps to assure that all individuals have equal opportunity for employment and career growth at UCSF.

It must be emphasized that the purpose of this policy and our revised Affirmative Action Plan is to recognize that mere opposition to employment discrimination is not enough. Commitment and effort are required to achieve a diverse work environment that is free of discrimination.

A system to monitor results achieved under UCSF's Affirmative Action Plan has been established, and responsibility for its continuing development, implementation, and evaluation has been assigned to Mr. Michael Adams, Director, Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity at UCSF. The plan will be updated and revised at least annually.

Within this context, supervisors are responsible for encouraging and demonstrating an enlightened interest in the participation of all groups, including minorities and women, at rates comparable to their availability. Responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

It shall be the responsibility of these groups and individuals to lend their collective and individual support to the Affirmative Action Plan by:

1. Assisting in communicating the University's affirmative action/non-discrimination policies to their constituents within and external to UCSF.
2. Encouraging the application of all qualified individuals, including minorities and women, for positions for which they may qualify.
3. Being sensitive to the employment needs and concerns of all employees, including minorities and women.
4. Communicating to line management and/or the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity any concerns or issues related to UCSF's Affirmative Action Plan.

5. UTILIZATION ANALYSES

Detailed descriptions of UCSF's workforce analysis, job groups, availability data and two-factor analyses, and utilization and goals for academic and staff job groups are contained in the Appendices of this Plan. These analyses allow UCSF to monitor its workforce makeup, identify utilization of persons within job groups, and establish appropriate goals where underutilization of protected groups is identified.

These analyses are designed to assist the University in identifying appropriate actions which would alleviate potential problems and assist in implementing our affirmative action/nondiscrimination policies. These analyses utilize 2000 census data on race and sex.

6. IDENTIFICATION OF PROBLEM AREAS

A large portion of the success of UCSF's affirmative action programs and activities depends on management's ability to monitor and evaluate the impact of personnel actions on the goals and policies contained in UCSF's Affirmative Action Plan. For this reason, UCSF, through the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity, and with the cooperation and assistance of the Office of The Executive Vice Chancellor, the Human Resources Department, and the office of Information Technology Services, is improving monitoring activities to assess every major aspect of personnel actions, including applicant flow, new hires, promotions, transfers, reclassifications, merit increases, and separations.

A software system for affirmative action planning was installed in 1990 and updated in 1999 to assist the campus in improving its monitoring capability. The system, Peopleclick CAAMS, derives personal histories for employees from personnel actions reported on the campus' employee database.

Through Peopleclick CAAMS, the campus is able to track employment movement via promotion or transfer, and uses this data as a basis for Factor 2 in calculating availability for staff job groups. Other human resources actions are derived from automated systems used by the Human Resources Department and the office of Information Technology Services (ITS).

Academic personnel actions are now being captured using automated systems. However, gaps still remain in determining eligibility for promotion and merit. Problems still exist, as well, in getting clear applicant flow and appointment information for determining goal attainment and other analysis. The Office of Academic Personnel is currently reviewing information systems that will track and capture the necessary data for analysis.

Despite some problems in fully automating our personnel information systems, UCSF has made progress in the collection of personnel action data and in the development of employment histories for staff.

The utilization and goal analyses contained in the Appendices for academic and staff employees identify those job groups/organizational units in which minorities and women are underutilized and highlight those specific problem areas in which further efforts are needed.

The following section summarizes analyses of activities for which data are available and points out those areas in need of attention.

6.1. Total Selection Process

Selection processes for academic and staff human resources include such elements as position descriptions/titles, worker specifications, application forms/resumes, formal and informal evaluation forms, and documentation of decisions.

1. Position descriptions, position titles, worker specifications:

UCSF has always monitored position descriptions, titles, and job specifications to assure that they are reasonable and contain the necessary requirements to perform the duties of each position.

2. Resumes / Application forms:

Application forms are seldom used. However, they are periodically revised to ensure questions are consistent with policy and legal requirements.

3. Testing and selection process:

Where no formal tests are administered to prospective employees at UCSF, only job-related selection procedures are utilized.

6.2. Analysis of Potential Problem Areas

A. Hires and Promotions

A review of all staff hiring decisions by job group showed disparities in some job groups when comparing referrals to hires. We will further review to determine the cause and significance of the disparities, and follow-up with corrective action.

A review of staff promotions was done and no problem areas were found.

B. Compensation Analysis

UCSF is in the process of establishing mechanisms to allow us to evaluate compensation systems for any disparities in compensation for staff and faculty.

C. Academic Applicant Tracking

The collection of academic applicant data has been problematic as most applicants submit materials by mail and do not return the requested paper copy of our demographic data form. Recently, the Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost earmarked funds for potential implementation of an electronic academic review system. We expect that system to include, or be able to interact with, an electronic application component with on-line demographic data collection. While system implementation is expected to take some time, the Office of Academic Affairs has already begun previewing existing software.

D. Academic Advancements

Advancement for academic appointees is based on academic attainment, experience and performance. Specific criteria, review process and eligibility for advancement are defined for each series in accordance with academic personnel policy.

6.3. Underutilization of Minorities and Women

The Utilization Analyses contained in Appendix F describes the distribution of minorities and women by job group for academic and staff employees and indicates those job groups in which underutilization exists. Whenever underutilization is identified, placement goals are established. The Utilization Analysis (Appendix F) also indicates the placement goals that have been established for underutilized job groups. Every effort will be made to encourage all qualified employees including women and minorities to apply for positions in job groups which have hiring goals, and recruitment efforts will be undertaken to encourage application and consideration of all qualified individuals including minorities and women not currently in the workforce.

6.4. Terminations

1. Staff Terminations

An analysis of terminations for staff employees during the period July 1, 2005 through June 30, 2006 did not reveal any problem areas.

2. Academic Terminations

An analysis of terminations for academic employees did not reveal any problem areas during this plan year.

7. ACTION ORIENTED PROGRAMS WITHIN AND OUTSIDE UCSF

As a result of our yearly review and analyses of data and trends as reflected in this Plan, UCSF continues to identify methods by which to address problem areas and attain established goals and objectives.

7.1. Academic Programs

The deans and department chairpersons will be advised of specific areas of underutilization of academic employees in their divisions and units. Regular sessions with appropriate academic administrative personnel will be conducted to review efforts and to assess progress. Additional activities are described below:

7.1.1. Recruitment

The Faculty Search Committee Ambassador Program, a two-year pilot program developed by the Equal Opportunity Committee of the Academic Senate and under the direction of the Vice Provost – Academic Affairs, was established in 2004 with the overall objective of improving faculty diversity by working with faculty search committees to enhance opportunities at every step of the process. Program activities include meeting with search chairs, proactive outreach to meetings with large number of potential applicants, the development of a toolkit for search chairs and staff, the development of a data base of potential applicants, and the establishment of diversity task forces in each of the four schools. These activities are intended to attain a broadly inclusive applicant pool, and to ensure equality of opportunity in the hiring process.

There will continue to be suitably extensive searches for academic appointees in order to reach the greatest number of qualified applicants, including women and minority candidates. Recruitment shall include, as appropriate for specific positions, advertising in appropriate professional media. Advertisements will be placed in publications designed to reach the widest audience of qualified persons. Announcements shall be directed, as appropriate for specific positions, to universities and colleges, and to other organizations and associations which are likely to be effective in making appointment opportunities known to qualified applicants, including minorities and women. UCSF also posts all open faculty positions with the Northern California Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (NC-HERC). Founded in 2000, NC-HERC is a collaborative response of 38 Northern California Campuses to the many challenges of academic recruitment and retention.

Good faith efforts will continue to be made in the following areas:

1. Identifying a potential recruitment pool that includes qualified minorities and women.
2. Holding seminars and meetings during which affirmative action commitments and strategies to increase the diversity of faculty are topics.
3. Advertising positions in the professional journals focusing on minority issues, and contacting directly, promising candidates, including women and minorities, minority professional associations and schools with high minority enrollments.

7.1.2. Selection

UCSF recognizes that the expansion of applicant pools by the addition of more women and minority candidates is only one aspect of an effective affirmative action recruitment program. Consistent with the University's commitment to excellence, hiring authorities are directed to hire the best qualified candidates for all vacant positions. Departments will continue to document recruitment and selection efforts through the Search Process Reports. The Vice Provost--Academic Affairs will review all academic searches. Particular scrutiny will be given to proposed appointments in units and job groups where minorities or women are underutilized.

7.1.3. Development

UCSF conducts a variety of Faculty Affirmative Action Development Programs, which are continually evaluated and revised as needed. These programs have proven especially successful in assisting junior faculty, including minorities and women, in advancing in rank and series. These programs, which include faculty development awards to individual junior faculty, annual workshops for all new junior faculty, a pre-tenure award program, fellowship programs, and faculty mentoring programs will continue and, as funds are available, be expanded.

Good faith efforts will continue to be made in the following areas:

1. Conducting mid-career appraisal reviews of junior faculty, including minorities and women, to evaluate their progress.
2. Establishing formal mentoring programs for junior faculty, including minorities and women. The Faculty Mentoring Program was established in 2005 as the result of a recommendation from the Chancellor's Council on Faculty Life, with the overall goal of providing standardized training, resources and evaluation material for one-on-one mentoring, peer mentoring, and group mentoring.

3. Conducting an annual new and junior faculty orientation program and providing resources to assist faculty in improving academic skills needed for advancement.
4. Establishing development programs for future UCSF faculty leaders. The UCSF Faculty Leadership Collaborative was established in 2005 as a result of a recommendation from the Chancellor's Council on Faculty Life, with the overall goal of providing a professional development program for faculty who want to develop their individual leadership abilities as a way to mobilize for change at UCSF.

7.1.4. Advancement/Promotions and Merit Increases

The decision on advancement of an individual shall be governed by established job-related criteria and will be based on academic attainment, experience, and performance. Special development opportunities will continue to be available to faculty, including minorities and women, to enhance their opportunities for advancement.

7.1.5. Retention

UCSF will monitor separations of all academic employees to identify any adverse pattern of separation or possible bias.

Good faith efforts will continue to be made in the following areas:

1. Identifying recipients, including minorities and women, for pre-tenure and faculty development awards to maximize their opportunities for promotion and tenure.
2. Offering opportunities to enhance grant writing skills and to prepare scientific papers for publication for junior faculty; and, supporting talks on advancement and promotion through organizations such as the Chancellor's Advisory Committee on the Status of Women.

7.1.6. Personnel Policies and Procedures

UCSF has policies and procedures covering academic personnel activities which include provisions for employment of relatives, leaves (including those for childbearing and child rearing), and grievance procedures. These policies and procedures will continue to be administered fairly and equitably for all academic employees or, as appropriate, for applicants for employment.

7.1.7. Discrimination Complaints

UCSF has grievance procedures for academic appointees which provide fair consideration and adjudication of complaints related to discrimination and other employment matters. Individuals may contact the Academic Affairs Office or the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity for informal investigation, mediation, and resolution of complaints of discrimination.

7.2. Staff Programs

As an aid to the attainment of its affirmative action goals and objectives, UCSF will remind those directly involved in human resources activities of UCSF's equal employment opportunity and affirmative action policies and procedures. Deans, directors, department chairpersons and managers, the Vice Chancellor--Administration & Finance, the Director--Human Resources, and other appropriate administrative officials will be advised of specific areas of underutilization of minority and women staff employees in their divisions and units. Sessions with appropriate administrative personnel will be conducted to review efforts and to assess progress. Additional activities are described below:

7.2.1. Recruitment

Programs have been developed over the past years by the Human Resources Department and will be reviewed and revised as necessary in order to improve and increase recruitment efforts to reach qualified applicants, including women and minorities, especially in job groups and units where women and minorities are underutilized and goals have been established. Specific hiring goals are available to each employment representative in the Human Resources Department to enable their assessment and monitoring of the recruitment/selection process. The employment representative is charged with the responsibility of supplying a diversified pool of applicants for all campus staff vacancies. The goals are provided to the departments by the Office of AA, EO & D and form the basis for the employment representative's recruitment efforts. New recruitment and referral sources will be identified and all recruitment materials will continue to indicate that "UCSF is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer". Special attention will be given to encouraging internal referrals of qualified minority and women candidates for UCSF staff positions, and the Human Resources Department will continue to provide training sessions for departmental managers and supervisors to enlist their cooperation and assistance in achieving UCSF's affirmative action hiring goals and to inform them of appropriate policies and procedures. As has been the practice for some time, a careful evaluation of staff employment qualifications will be made continuously to assure that all stated minimum requirements are job-related so as not to deter candidates who are qualified for such vacancies. Departments shall continue to post and announce vacancies within the department as well as posting UCSF's campus wide Job Opportunities Listing. UCSF will continue its practice of advertising in those publications and other media which reach the greatest number of potential applicants, including minority and female applicants for staff positions.

7.2.2. Selection

The decision to select a candidate shall be based on the applicant's qualifications for the position, although preference will be given to qualified persons on "preferential rehire status." Consistent with the university's commitment to excellence, hiring authorities are directed to hire the best qualified candidates for all vacant positions. Human Resources and the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity shall monitor the reasons for rejection of minorities and women to ensure compliance with the university's policy of non-discrimination. Departments shall be required to provide information on the disposition of all applicants referred, including the reasons for rejection. Particular attention will be given to proposed appointments in units and job groups where minorities or women are underutilized.

Appointing authorities are directed by policy to be mindful of UCSF's equal opportunity and affirmative action policies and any current affirmative action goals. The campus's affirmative action policy does not imply the establishment of quotas for under-represented groups, nor is it a means for compromising job-related qualification standards for the purpose of meeting numerical or percentage goals.

7.2.3. Promotion and Transfer

Promotion, transfer, and advancement at UCSF are encouraged and are based on a candidate's ability to perform the duties of the position being sought. To ensure that all employees have the opportunity to apply for promotional and transfer vacancies, job opportunities are posted and widely circulated through a variety of media on a regular basis. All staff employees who have completed their probationary period may apply for transfer or promotion to positions for which they are qualified.

Appointing authorities are directed by policy to be mindful of UCSF's equal opportunity and affirmative action policies and any current affirmative action goals. The campus's affirmative action policy does not imply the establishment of quotas for under-represented groups, nor is it a means for compromising job-related qualification standards for the purpose of meeting numerical or percentage goals.

7.2.4 Seniority Practices

Seniority practices are nondiscriminatory, and seniority provisions of collective bargaining agreements are maintained and implemented in a nondiscriminatory manner.

7.2.5. Training and Development

UCSF recognizes that realistic opportunities for advancement of underutilized groups will be enhanced by continuation and expansion of training programs. In-service training and employee development geared to the career interests and skills of employees and departmental operations will be continued and, as funds are available, expanded.

Management and staff affirmative action development programs are in place to assist interested and eligible staff employees, including women and minority employees to enhance their opportunities for promotion and transfer. These programs include a management fellowship, a mid-management skills assessment program, a scholarship program for nurses and tuition reimbursement for qualified individuals who enroll in job-related courses. These will be reviewed, modified, or expanded, based on funding support and evaluation of effectiveness.

The Human Resources Department will continue to provide a variety of training and development programs open to all staff employees to improve skills and to provide career development options. The Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity working with the Human Resources Department and other units will continue to develop and provide special training programs for management and supervisory staff to create greater awareness and understanding of managing a culturally diverse workforce, and to reinforce UCSF's affirmative action/non-discrimination policies and procedures.

7.2.6. Separations

The UCSF Human Resources Department will monitor separations of staff employees to identify any adverse patterns or possible bias.

7.2.7. Personnel Policies and Procedures

UCSF has policies and procedures covering human resources activities which include, but are not limited to, provisions for employment of relatives, leaves (including those for childbearing and child rearing), pay and merit increases, performance evaluation, corrective action, discipline and discharge, and grievances. These policies and procedures will continue to be administered fairly and equitably for all staff employees including, as appropriate, applicants for employment.

7.2.8. Discrimination Complaints

UCSF has grievance procedures for staff employees which provide fair consideration and adjudication of complaints related to discrimination and other personnel matters. Individuals may also contact the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity for informal investigation, mediation, and resolution of complaints of discrimination.

7.3. Other Programs

7.3.1. Child Care and Elder Care: UCSF recognizes that child care programs are important to allow employment participation by women and single parent applicants and employees. There is presently a child care facility at three locations: Parnassus, the Laurel Heights, and Mission Bay, for the benefit of students, employees, and community members. UCSF also offers employees, students and retirees with the planning and care of elder family members.

7.3.2. Faculty and Staff Assistance Program (FSAP): An employee assistance and referral program has been established to assist employees with medical/behavioral or personal problems affecting job performance.

- 7.3.3. Facilities: Campus facilities are continuing to be assessed to assure that they are available and accessible to all employees. A committee has been established to monitor and implement the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act.
- 7.3.4. Liaison: The Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity will continue to establish and maintain liaison with campus advisory groups and community organizations concerned with Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity issues.
- 7.3.5. Mentoring: UCSF has developed a staff mentoring program which is jointly sponsored by the Academic Business Officers Group (ABOG) and the Sr. Vice Chancellor for Finance and Administration. The goal of the program is to provide exposure to interested and eligible staff, including women and minorities, who aspire to higher level mid-management positions. The program matches an employee with a mentor who has volunteered for 18 months. A mentoring guide has also been distributed through the Development and Training unit to members of the campus community.
- 7.3.6. Chancellor's Task Force on Cultural/Ethnic Diversity: In May 1988, then Chancellor Krevans appointed a task force to identify issues and problems, and to make recommendations which would accomplish those improvements needed to create a more multi-cultural campus. The study compiled by the Task Force, which was completed in 1989, included findings and recommendations on faculty, staff, students, and business. Many of the recommendations were implemented.

In May of 1995, Chancellor Joseph B. Martin appointed a Steering Committee on Diversity to advise him and his Cabinet about strategies to support and promote diversity at UCSF. The charge to the Committee was continued under Chancellor Haile Debas and effective July 1, 1999 the Committee was elevated to a standing committee by Chancellor J. Michael Bishop and is now the Chancellor's Advisory Committee on Diversity. The Committee's charge remains the same and 25 members representing faculty, staff, and students from different departments and groups serve two-year terms. The charge includes:

- Advising the Cabinet regarding implementation of the campus Affirmative Action Plan goals;
- Reviewing and setting priorities for the recommendations of the previous Diversity Task Force;

- Serving as a sounding board for other campus concerns related to the issue of diversity.

Each year, an activity report is forwarded to the Chancellor, who then remands the ideas and proposals to the Executive Committee on Diversity for evaluation, advice and/or implementation. The reports are available on the UCSF Diversity webpage at <<http://www.ucsf.edu/diverse/>>.

In 2006, a Chancellor's Committee on Academic Diversity was created and is chaired by EVC and Provost Washington.

7.3.7. Diversity Training: The Office of AA, EO & D offers a variety of diversity training programs to the campus community based on specific requests.

7.3.8. Problem Resolution Center:

In September of 1998, UCSF opened the Problem Resolution Center (PRC), a place to mediate problems between faculty, staff, students and trainees. The goal of PRC is to serve as a neutral entity separate from existing administrative units with trained mediators to facilitate conflict negotiations.

7.4. External Programs

UCSF participates in and directly provides a wide variety of programs to improve the employment opportunities and health care for residents of the greater San Francisco Bay Area. Listed below are samples of some of these programs and activities:

8. INTERNAL AUDIT AND REPORTING SYSTEMS

Audit and reporting systems at UCSF for affirmative action reporting purposes currently rely on a newly developed, automated human resource management system. This system includes:

1. Records of referrals, placements, transfers, promotions, merit increases, and separations, which will be reviewed on a regular basis to ensure that nondiscrimination policies are being adhered to in practice.
2. Applicant flow and disposition.
3. Analysis of employment utilization compared to availability.
4. Analysis of goals progress.

The Academic Affairs Office and the Human Resources Department collect and summarize personnel activity data; the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity analyzes the data provided and reports on the results of the analysis to appropriate officials.

Records that are maintained serve as the basis for updating UCSF's Affirmative Action Plan, including revision of availability data and re-establishment of goals. UCSF's audit and reporting system is used to evaluate action-oriented programs and ongoing campus affirmative action efforts. Additionally, formal reports from appropriate administrative personnel occur on a regular basis to assess the degree to which goals are attained and progress or problems have occurred, and top management is advised of program effectiveness, including recommendations to improve activities to enhance achievement of the campus' affirmative action goals and objectives. Finally, affirmative action results are reviewed with all levels of campus management.

Further monitoring of personnel actions and attempts to resolve problem areas will be coordinated among the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity, Human Resources, and the Academic Affairs Office.

8.1. Strategic Plan

A Strategic Planning Board was appointed in July 2005 and the Plan was established in June 2007. The strategic plan – the product of a highly inclusive process – calls for making improvements across UCSF's fourfold mission of patient care, education, health sciences research and public service. It recommends building upon UCSF's strengths as a world-renowned academic health center in part by expanding opportunities for translational research, fostering patient-centered care, and advancing interdisciplinary collaboration and global health.

One section titled “Nurturing Diversity,” expands upon UCSF’s comprehensive initiative to promote and nurture diversity among faculty, staff and trainees.

Strategies

- Ensure that UCSF continues to attract the best and most diverse candidates for all educational programs.
- Create a more diverse campus community.
- Improve diversity among senior leadership.

9. COMPLIANCE WITH SEX DISCRIMINATION GUIDELINES

UCSF has reviewed its employment policies and practices to assure compliance with the laws and regulations prohibiting sex discrimination, including the Equal Pay Act, the Pregnancy Discrimination Amendments to Title VII, the EEOC Guidelines on Sexual Harassment and the OFCCP Sex Discrimination Guidelines. The University also conforms to all nondiscriminatory regulations concerning recruitment and advertising.

This nondiscrimination policy covers admission, access, and treatment in University programs and activities, and application and treatment in University employment.

9.2. Procedures

1. UCSF will recruit males and females for all positions except where sex is a bona fide occupational qualification that has been carefully identified and fully documented.
2. UCSF will advertise in newspapers and other media which do not list jobs separately for men and women. Advertisements state that UCSF is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.
3. Personnel policies do not discriminate because of sex and reiterate UCSF's commitment to nondiscrimination.

4. Employees and applicants of both sexes have an equal opportunity to any available position they are qualified to fill, unless sex is a bona fide occupational qualification. Wages, hours, conditions of employment, pensions, recreational programs, and all other employee benefits will continue to be administered on an equal basis, regardless of sex.
5. Persons married or unmarried, regardless of sex, are treated equally in all personnel actions. Ages and numbers of children are not factors in job offers.
6. Retirement benefits are equal for both sexes.
7. Appropriate physical facilities are provided for employees of both sexes.
8. Leave policies comply with legal and contractual requirements. Leaves of absence are the same for all employees regardless of sex and/or marital status. 9. Sex is not a factor in determination of seniority for indefinite layoff or reduction in time.
10. Employees, regardless of sex, are allowed to transfer or be promoted to positions they are qualified to hold.
11. UCSF continually seeks women for all full-time and part-time positions, with a special emphasis on recruiting women for positions where they are underutilized.
12. UCSF evaluates the feasibility of redesigning work hours in those cases where they may be restrictive toward employment opportunities for women.
13. UCSF administers all training programs without regard to sex, and maintains a special commitment to include women in management and other training and development activities.

9.3. Sexual Harassment Policy

UCSF is committed to creating and maintaining a community in which students, faculty, and administrative and academic staff can work together in an atmosphere free of all forms of harassment, exploitation, or intimidation, including sexual. Specifically, every member of the University community should be aware that UCSF is strongly opposed to sexual harassment and that such behavior is prohibited both by law and University policy. It is the intention of UCSF to take whatever action may be needed to prevent, correct and, if necessary, discipline behavior which violates this policy. UCSF has created the Office of Sexual Harassment Prevention and Resolution to address this issue.

9.4. Sexual Harassment Complaint Procedures

UCSF has established a pre-grievance complaint process designed to respond to the sensitive nature of sexual harassment complaints. This process may be used by students, faculty, or staff to address the unique circumstances associated with such complaints through a mechanism that provides an opportunity for resolution at the earliest possible stage. Formal grievance mechanisms are also available and education and training programs in this area are ongoing.

10. COMPLIANCE WITH RELIGIOUS AND NATIONAL ORIGIN GUIDELINES

UCSF has reviewed its employment policies and practices to assure that they conform to the requirements of the Federal Guidelines on Discrimination Because of Religion or National Origin. UCSF reasonably accommodates the religious observances and practices of employees and prospective employees as required.

10.1. Policy

It is the policy of the University of California, San Francisco not to discriminate against employees or applicants for employment on the basis of religion or national origin in any of its policies, procedures, or practices. This nondiscrimination policy covers admission, access, and treatment in University programs and activities, and application and treatment in University employment.

10.2. Procedures

1. All applicants and employees will continue to be treated fairly without regard to religious beliefs or national origin.
2. UCSF will attempt to accommodate employees' or applicants' religious needs, whenever such accommodations can be made without undue hardship to the conduct of UCSF's business. In making such determinations, UCSF will consider business necessity, financial costs and expenses, and resultant personnel problems.
3. Managers and supervisors who make employment decisions are informed of UCSF policies, the need for religious accommodations, as well as their rights and responsibilities.
4. UCSF maintains communication with all employees regarding its commitment to provide equal employment opportunities for all persons, regardless of religion or national origin.
5. National origin organizations are contacted for consultation, and referral of potential employees.
6. Religious organizations are contacted for consultation on religious issues.
7. UCSF has established a policy which requires prior written authorization by the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity, of any English-only rules to assure that such requirements, when established, do not constitute a form of national origin discrimination.

11.4.3. Staff Outreach Recruitment

Efforts will be made to identify additional sources of recruitment for persons with disabilities and covered veterans. All recruitment materials and advertising will indicate that UCSF is "An Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer." Recruitment methods will include:

1. Periodically informing all employees and prospective employees of the commitment to engage in affirmative action.

7. Including individuals with disabilities when employees are pictured in consumer, promotional, or help-wanted advertising.
8. Notifying subcontractors, vendors, and suppliers of our affirmative action policy requesting appropriate action on their part.

11.5. Staff

The following statements are a general overview of practices which are being or will be implemented by UCSF in meeting its commitment for affirmative action for persons with disabilities and covered veterans. The details of these policies and practices may be found in the Personnel Policies for Staff Members manual, and in collective bargaining agreements.

11.5.1. Selection

UCSF recognizes that the expansion of applicant pools is only one step in the overall process to ensure equal employment opportunity without regard to disability and status as a covered veteran.

Realistic and necessary levels of experience and training, as an example, shall be set so that the greatest number of qualified applicants will be considered. A department has a special responsibility to notify all department employees of intra-departmental promotional career vacancies and to allow sufficient time for employees to apply. Further, employees should be informed of the selection process utilized to fill such vacancies including a description of the job, applicant requirements, interviewing procedures, and similar factors. The only physical or mental qualifications applied to a position shall be those qualifications directly related to the performance of the duties and responsibilities of the position.

UCSF will make reasonable accommodations to the physical and mental limitations of otherwise qualified employees or applicants unless it can be demonstrated that such an accommodation would impose an undue hardship on the conduct of business.

In making appointments of human resources, first preferences must be given to qualified persons on preferential rehire status (an employee who was laid-off), and second preference must be given to qualified career employees scheduled for indefinite layoff and third preference must be given to qualified employees with disabilities referred for special selection consideration, in accordance with University personnel policy.

11.5.2. Medical Examinations and Inquiries

UCSF may tender an offer of employment contingent upon the results of a physical examination so long as all entering employees in the same job category are subjected to such an examination regardless of disability. Information obtained under this section regarding the medical condition or history of the applicant shall be collected and maintained in separate files and treated as a confidential medical record. Supervisors and managers may be informed regarding necessary work duty restrictions and/or accommodations along with first aid/safety personnel (if the disability may require emergency treatment) and governmental officials investigating compliance with this section.

1. Pre-employment inquiries (i.e., those made prior to an offer of employment) may be made to determine only if an applicant is able to perform the essential job functions of the position for which the applicant is applying and may not include questions as to whether an applicant is an individual with a disability or a special disabled veteran, or as to the nature or severity of such disability.
2. Information obtained on the medical condition or history of applicants shall be collected and maintained on separate forms and shall be accorded confidentiality as medical records, except that:
 - (1) Supervisors and managers may be informed of restrictions on the work or duties of persons with disabilities and of necessary accommodation.
 - (2) First aid and safety personnel may be informed, as appropriate, if the condition might require emergency treatment.
 - (3) Government officials investigating compliance shall be provided with relevant information on request.
3. Sections 60-741.42 and 60-250.42 of the regulations require the contractor to invite applicants to inform the contractor whether the applicant believes that he or she is an individual with a disability or a special disabled veteran who may be covered by the Act and wishes to benefit under the affirmative action program. Such invitation shall be extended after making an offer of employment to a job applicant and before the applicant begins his or her employment duties.

Vietnam era veterans, recently separated veterans, and any other veterans who served on active duty during a war or in a campaign or expedition for which a campaign badge has been authorized may be invited to self-identify such status at any point before the applicant begins his or her employment.

4. Pre-employment inquiries regarding military record will be examined only as they pertain to the applicant's employment qualifications.

11.5.3. Compensation, Salary and Merit Increases

It is the policy of the University of California, San Francisco, that when offering employment or promotions to individuals with a disability and covered veterans, the amount of compensation offered will not be reduced because of any income based on a disability-related and/or military-service-related pension, or other disability-related or military-service-related benefit the applicant or employee receives from another source.

Merit increases are to be awarded on the basis of individual performance. No merit increases may be awarded or denied on the basis of disability or status as a covered veteran.

11.5.4. Training

UCSF recognizes that realistic opportunities for the employment and advancement of individuals with disabilities and covered veterans will be enhanced by the continuation and expansion of training programs. Such training programs will be open to all employees, without regard to disability or status as a covered veteran.

In-service training and employee development, geared to the career interests and skills of employees, will be continued and, as funds are available, expanded. This training will not be designed solely to improve skills in existing jobs, but also to develop skills necessary for career advancement.

The Human Resources Department will continue to develop special training programs for supervisory and other staff to create greater awareness and understanding of those attitudes or behaviors concerning individuals with disabilities and covered veterans, which may result in employment discrimination. The supervisory training programs offered informs participants of the contractors' commitments to affirmative action. Additionally, the Human Resources Department will continue to provide organizational development consultation to departments to enable employees to participate fully in the organization without regard to disability or status as a covered veteran.

11.5.5. Promotion

Promotion and advancement at UCSF is encouraged and will be based solely on criteria which are made explicit. Opportunity for promotion shall be available equally to all eligible employees without regard to disability or status as a covered veteran.

Equal opportunity for promotion is assisted through in-service training. Promotional opportunities must be posted and announced and the criteria used for selection must be reasonably explicit and accessible to applicants.

11.5.6. Transfer

In order to assure that all employees have the opportunity to apply for transfer and promotional vacancies, UCSF has an open transfer policy. All staff employees who have satisfactorily completed their probationary period may apply for transfer or promotion to positions for which they are qualified. Applications for transfer shall be considered without regard to disability or status as a covered veteran.

11.5.7. Termination

Termination or nonrenewal of employment will not be based on disability or status as a covered veteran.

11.5.8. Work conditions

All conditions of work will be applied without discrimination on the basis of disability or status as a covered veteran.

Sections 60-250.44(e) and 60-741.44(e) of the regulations require contractors to develop and implement procedures to ensure that its employees are not harassed because of their status as a covered veteran or individual with a disability. The University meets this requirement by dissemination of policy and through training. Complaint procedures are in place to address issues of harassment and discrimination.

11.5.9. Leave Policies

Leave policies, either with or without pay, will be applied without regard to disability or status as a covered veteran.

11.5.10. Reasonable Accommodation

Reasonable accommodations shall be made to the known physical and mental limitations of otherwise qualified individuals with disabilities and qualified special disabled veterans. Accommodations which result in significant difficulty or expense for the University will constitute an undue hardship and will not be required. Undue hardship refers to any accommodation which would be unduly costly, extensive, substantial, or disruptive, or that would fundamentally alter the nature or operation of the department. Where undue hardship is in dispute, Employee

Rehabilitation Services will consult with Labor and Employee Relations and other University resources. If a resolution cannot be obtained, the matter will be referred to the Human Resources Director and the ADA Coordinator for a final determination.

11.5.11. Rehabilitation

The Disability Management Services (DMS) unit provides special assistance to employees with disabilities when such disabilities substantially limit their work activities. This assistance includes vocational rehabilitation counseling, reasonable accommodation advice and, for employees who have attained career status, special selection job referral. DMS also provides consultation to departments regarding disability law, policy, and accommodation.

11.6. Staff and Academic Auditing and Reporting

1. Sections 60-250.44(h) and 60-741.44(h)

The revised regulations require contractors to design and implement an audit and reporting system to measure the effectiveness of the affirmative action program, indicate any need for remedial action, determine the degree to which objectives have been attained, determine whether covered veterans and individuals with disabilities have had the opportunity to participate in all company sponsored educational, training, recreational, and social activities, and measure the contractor's compliance with the affirmative action program's specific obligations.

Auditing and reporting is done in a number of ways. One is the oversight from the Office of the President which keeps the campus informed of new regulatory requirements, and the campus ensures compliance as new information is provided. For example, the new covered categories under "Protected Veterans" status was not captured in our payroll system; it has now been corrected. Other auditing mechanisms are implemented through the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity, which manages and resolves complaints of discrimination on the basis of disabilities and veteran status. The director of the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity, and Diversity is the campus 504 and ADA Coordinator. In this role, he coordinates solutions to a variety of issues regarding accessibility. In addition, the Chancellor has formed the Chancellor's Advisory Committee on Disability Issues, an advisory committee whose charge is to review practices and activities throughout the campus to ensure that the interests of the disabled community are included. Other methods include the campus employee opinion survey which will be modified to capture concerns of disabled and veteran employees.

2. Identification of Protected Employees

- (a) Personnel/payroll forms have been revised so that statistical data is collected for protected employees (i.e., individuals with disabilities and covered veterans), and so that affirmative action is taken for such individuals as appropriate.

Identifying information shall be voluntary and any information obtained will be kept confidential, and will be used only for statistical purposes, for periodic review of the status of each individual and in appropriate cases to inform department managers regarding restrictions on the work or duties of an individual with a disability and of the necessary accommodations, and to inform first aid and safety personnel of special conditions.

- (b) A voluntary census of current employees was conducted to establish an organizational profile of protected employees.

3. Review, Monitoring and Analyses

As part of the function of the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity to inspect departmental records and procedures relating to personnel actions, consideration will be given to the effect of such personnel actions on protected employees and applicants.

4. Grievance Procedures

UCSF has grievance procedures for staff and academic employees which provide fair adjudication of complaints related to the conditions of employment. These include procedures for taking a complaint through to a formal hearing and procedures for administrative review of matters not eligible for a formal hearing.

A discrimination complaint may also be brought directly by an employee or applicant to the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity for informal investigation, mediation, and resolution.

11.7. Academic Personnel Policies

All academic personnel policies, including those applying to selection, compensation, merit increases, promotions, and separations, will be applied equitably to all academic personnel. Survey and monitoring procedures described below will assure that academic appointees will not be discriminated against on the basis of their status as persons with disabilities or covered veterans, as defined in Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Section 402 of the Vietnam-era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1973, the Veterans Rehabilitation and Education Amendments of 1980 (as amended), and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Applicants for employment who wish to benefit under the AAP fall under the same requirements of Sections 60-741.42 and 60-250.42 of the regulations (as indicated in section 10.5.2).

11.8. Review, Monitoring and Analyses (Academic and Staff)

1. Ongoing Monitoring of Individual Employment Actions and Job Qualifications

A review of hires will be conducted to assure that such actions are nondiscriminatory and in accordance with policy. This ongoing review will include an examination of all physical and mental job qualification standards to ensure that, with regard to qualified individuals with disabilities and qualified special disabled veterans, such job qualifications standards are job-related to the position in question and are consistent with business necessity.

2. Review and Analysis of Procedures and Personnel Actions

A review of campus academic and human resources procedures will be undertaken to determine whether those procedures assure equitable and thorough consideration of the qualifications of persons with disabilities and covered veterans. The review will identify any potential problem areas, and determine the cause of any such potential problem areas. Remedial action, such as modifications of practices and procedures, will be scheduled and undertaken as needed.

3. Physical Accommodations

The University will make reasonable accommodations to the known physical and mental limitations of qualified individuals with disabilities and qualified special disabled veterans, unless an undue hardship would be imposed. Review and monitoring of actions undertaken or to be undertaken to afford reasonable accommodation (e.g., modifications of physical facilities) will be the responsibility of the ADA Coordinator, Vice Chancellors, Deans and Directors.

This campus provides accessible physical facilities which include, among other things:

- (a) Accessibility to employment offices (parking spaces available).
- (b) Accessibility to buildings.
- (c) Accessibility to floors within buildings.
- (d) Accessibility to restrooms (male and female).
- (e) Provision of drinking fountains.

Curb cuts have been provided at all principal campus street and pedestrian crossing intersections to permit wheelchair traffic between buildings. Special parking facilities to accommodate the disabled have been provided through the campus parking system.

In compliance with Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act (which seeks to remove structural, architectural, transportation, and communications barriers in existing facilities), the campus' capitol projects provide for additional modification which include the following:

- (a) The provision of interior and exterior ramps in compliance with applicable standards.
- (b) Provision of wheelchair accessible shuttle services.
- (c) Modification/installation of wheelchair accessible restroom facilities.
- (d) Installation of Braille and high contrast signage for all public areas.
- (e) Modification of exterior and interior doorways to improve accessibility.
- (f) Installation of elevators/controls which are wheelchair accessible, utilize high contrast Braille lettering, and provide audible floor cues.
- (g) Modification of telecommunications equipment to provide hearing impaired access.
- (h) Installation of exterior and interior stairway handrails.

UCSF will provide accessible facilities except where it is structurally impractical to do so and improve existing facility access within its physical plant to assure that services are provided in the most integrated setting appropriate to the needs of persons with disabilities. Such improvements or modifications will be made subject to the availability of funds as well as the nature, size, and cost of the modifications.

- F = Miscellaneous

The 2nd digit is a dash separating the alpha code from the numeric code.

The 3rd and 4th digit designate academic series:

- 1 = Tenured ladder rank (Professor and Associate Professor)
- 2 = Nontenured ladder rank (Assistant Professor)
- 3 = Other faculty (In-Residence, Clinical, Adjunct, Clinical X)
- 4 = Lecturers
- 5 = Researchers
- 6 = Specialists
- 7 = Postgraduate Research (Non-student)
- 9 = Academic Administrators
- 11 = Librarians
- 12 = Miscellaneous

2. All academic title codes are coded by Systemwide to a CTO (class title outline). All CTO's have been coded and matched to one of the 12 categories listed above.

CAMPUSWIDE WORKFORCE ANALYSIS

WORKFORCE ANALYSIS

Organizational Unit Codes

Each department at UCSF has been assigned a four-digit unit code. Each department is further assigned to one of the major organizational groups on the basis of line/functional reporting relationships. The first two digits of each organizational unit code denote the major organizational group to which each department is assigned. All UCSF employees are identified organizationally under UCSF's Affirmative Action Plan, regardless of physical location. Due to the nature of UCSF's mission and because of space issues, employees are located in many different locations, some as far away as Sacramento and Fresno. The organizational unit code, to a certain extent, also identifies the location of the department. For example, organizational code 6400 (Fresno Medical Education Program) is under the School of Medicine (6000) but is specifically located in Fresno, California. Other locations include Langley Porter Psychiatric Institute (LPPI), the Mission Bay Campus, which opened in 2003 and continues in construction, UCSF Mt. Zion, China Basis Imaging Center, Lakeshore Medical Group, Lakeside Senior Medical Center, Women's Health-Bay Springs, and Women's Health - Daly City (OB-Gyn).

Workforce Analysis

A workforce analysis was conducted to gather and organize data on the number of academic and staff employees, as of June 30, 2006, at UCSF, by sex, ethnic group, and by department¹. It does not include casual, per diem or temporary employees.

For each department, data are displayed separately for academic and staff employees by title, lowest to highest paid. (Formal lines of progression for UCSF employees do not exist except as defined by academic personnel policy as promotions within a title series.)

For each title, the minimum and maximum monthly salary ranges are provided except where salaries are "by agreement," or the title codes are temporary, visiting, acting, or without salary titles.

For each job title in a department, the total number of employees, the total number of male and female employees, and the total number of male and female employees within each ethnic group (Black, Asian/Pacific Islander, American Indian/Alaskan native, and Hispanic) are reported.

Workforce data were obtained from UCSF's employee data base and included those employees on the payroll as of June 30, 2006.

A copy of the workforce analysis is available for review at the Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity, & Diversity office and in the Chancellor's Office. The report provides detail on the number of academic and staff employees at UCSF, by sex and ethnic group, by department.

On request from the Office of Academic Affairs, the following titles were excluded from the academic availability analysis and thus from the computation of goals in the academic utilization analysis because they are of a temporary nature. However, they are reflected in the academic workforce analysis:

APPENDIX D
STAFF AVAILABILITY ANALYSIS

STAFF AVAILABILITY ANALYSIS

The staff availability analysis was conducted in accordance with the requirements of applicable federal regulations (41 CFR 60-2.14). Using a "weighted factor analysis," developed by CRITERION, Inc., data on each of the following factors were considered, and as noted below, given weight in arriving at a final availability estimate. The reasonable recruitment area for each job group is maintained in our data base. The selection of the recruitment area is done by periodic review of applicant zip codes.

- (1) As required by the Regulations, one factor considered was women and minorities with relevant skills within a reasonable recruitment area. Geographical areas ranging from the local SMSA (Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area) for lower level jobs to the State for mid-to upper level jobs, to the United States for executive level jobs were considered. A weight is assigned depending on the degree to which the recruitment area is relevant to the particular job group. Where multiple SOC (Standard Occupational Classification) census groups were relevant to a job group, each was included and subweighted according to the relative proportion of related occupations in the job group.
- (2) The second factor considered was the number of women and minorities available among those promotable, transferable, and trainable within the organization. The selection of the internal pool is determined by the number of employees who apply internally for a specific job. Based on an analysis of the proportion of jobs filled within each job group by internal promotion or transfer, a weight is assigned to this factor. Source data for availability was based upon the proportion of women and minorities employed in the "feeder job groups" supplying the individuals promoted or transferred.

The results of the availability analysis are exhibited in the tables found in Appendix F (4-18) which show the estimated availability percentage as "class goal."

Further detail on the raw data and detailed methodology can be obtained from the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity.

APPENDIX E

ACADEMIC AVAILABILITY ANALYSIS

ACADEMIC AVAILABILITY ANALYSIS

The academic availability analysis was conducted in accordance with the requirements of applicable federal regulations (41 CFR 60-2.14), which mandate that an estimate of the proportion of each sex and ethnic group available and qualified for employment in a given UCSF job group be conducted. Using a "weighted factor analysis," data on each of the following factors were considered and, as noted below, given weight in arriving at final availability estimates. Where applicable, 2000 census data and the latest available national occupation data were used. The estimated availability for each academic job group can be found in appendix F under "class goal."

- (1) Regulations require data on the percentages of minorities and women who have requisite skills in an area in which the employer can reasonably recruit. The reasonable recruitment area for all academic job groups is national. A national recruitment area is necessary to ensure the strongest, most diverse pool of qualified applicants. An analysis was completed, therefore, for all UCSF academic job groups using national occupational data and supplemental data when such data could be found. Occupational data used most frequently were based primarily on participation rates of minorities and women on health science faculties and educational program faculties. Recognizing that occupational data alone should not be used if at all possible as the sole source of requisite skills data, additional, supplemental sources were developed. These data consisted primarily of statistics on the percentages of minorities and women receiving terminal degrees (M.S., M.A., Ph.D., Pharm D., M.D., D.D.S.) in appropriate disciplines. Depending on the degree to which the data obtained were relevant to the proportion of related occupations in the job group, each data source was subweighted. An overall weight assigned to this factor based on the degree to which the data obtained were relevant to the particular job group.
- (2) Regulations require data on the percentages of promotable and transferable minorities and women within the employer's workforce. To identify the percentages of minorities and women promotable in a specific UCSF academic job group, an identification was made of the academic positions from which individuals can reasonable be expected to be promoted. Once this identification of "feeder" positions was made, all persons employed in these positions were identified, and the percentages of each sex and ethnic group within appropriate titles were provided. An overall weight was assigned to this factor based on the degree to which the data obtained were applicable to the job group.

Further detail on raw data and detailed methodology can be obtained from the Office of Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity & Diversity.

APPENDIX F
UTILIZATION ANALYSIS -- ACADEMIC AND STAFF
(Summary Analysis)

UTILIZATION ANALYSES -- ACADEMIC AND STAFF

The regulations state that when the percentage of minorities or women employed in a particular job group is less than would reasonably be expected given their availability percentage in that particular job group, the contractor must establish a placement goal at least equal to the availability percentage derived for the job group. A utilization analysis, therefore, requires comparison of two sets of data.

- Percent of a particular sex or ethnic group employed in the job group; and
- Percent of a particular sex or ethnic group available in the relevant labor market area. For staff job groups, the relevant labor market area included: the San Francisco Primary Metropolitan Statistical Area (PMSA), the state of California, and national labor market availability. For academic job groups, the relevant labor market areas included: the national labor market of faculty in doctorates awarded from, graduates from, and residents in applicable professional schools.

Once availability data were collected and final availability estimates were derived for each UCSF job group, a utilization analysis was conducted to identify underutilization by job group. To correct deficiencies in the utilization of women and minorities, goals must be established where such deficiencies (underutilization) are found to exist. In developing goals for UCSF academic and staff job groups, the following principle was considered:

- Placement goals may not be rigid and inflexible quotas, which must be met, nor are they to be considered as either a ceiling or a floor for the employment of particular groups. Quotas are expressly forbidden.

In consultation with appropriate officials, goals were established for UCSF academic and staff job groups where underutilization was identified.

Utilization Analyses for academic and staff job groups follow. The following information is identified and displayed:

- Job group number and title
- Date of analysis
- Utilization: the number and percent of incumbent employees by sex and ethnic group, total minorities and total employed in the job group as of June 30, 2006. ¹
- Availability: the percentage of women and minorities estimated to be available in the relevant labor market area for employment in each job group. The availability percentages are reported in the percentage column of the “class goal” listings.
- Underutilization: no underutilization exists where the percent of incumbents (utilization percentage) is equal to or greater than the percent available. Underutilization occurs, however, if utilization is less than reasonable representation and the degree of underutilization is equal to or greater than .5 of a person.
- Placement goals are established for job groups identified as underutilized and are set equal to the availability percentage for each underutilized job group.

¹The “Native American” category is equivalent to the American Indian/Alaskan Native category and the “Asian” category is equivalent to the Asian/Pacific Islander category specified in the regulations.
